FOREWORD

On December 7, 1941, Jap bambs struck Pearl Harbar. The saund af thase bambs is still ringing in our ears and in the ears of every man in the armed services.

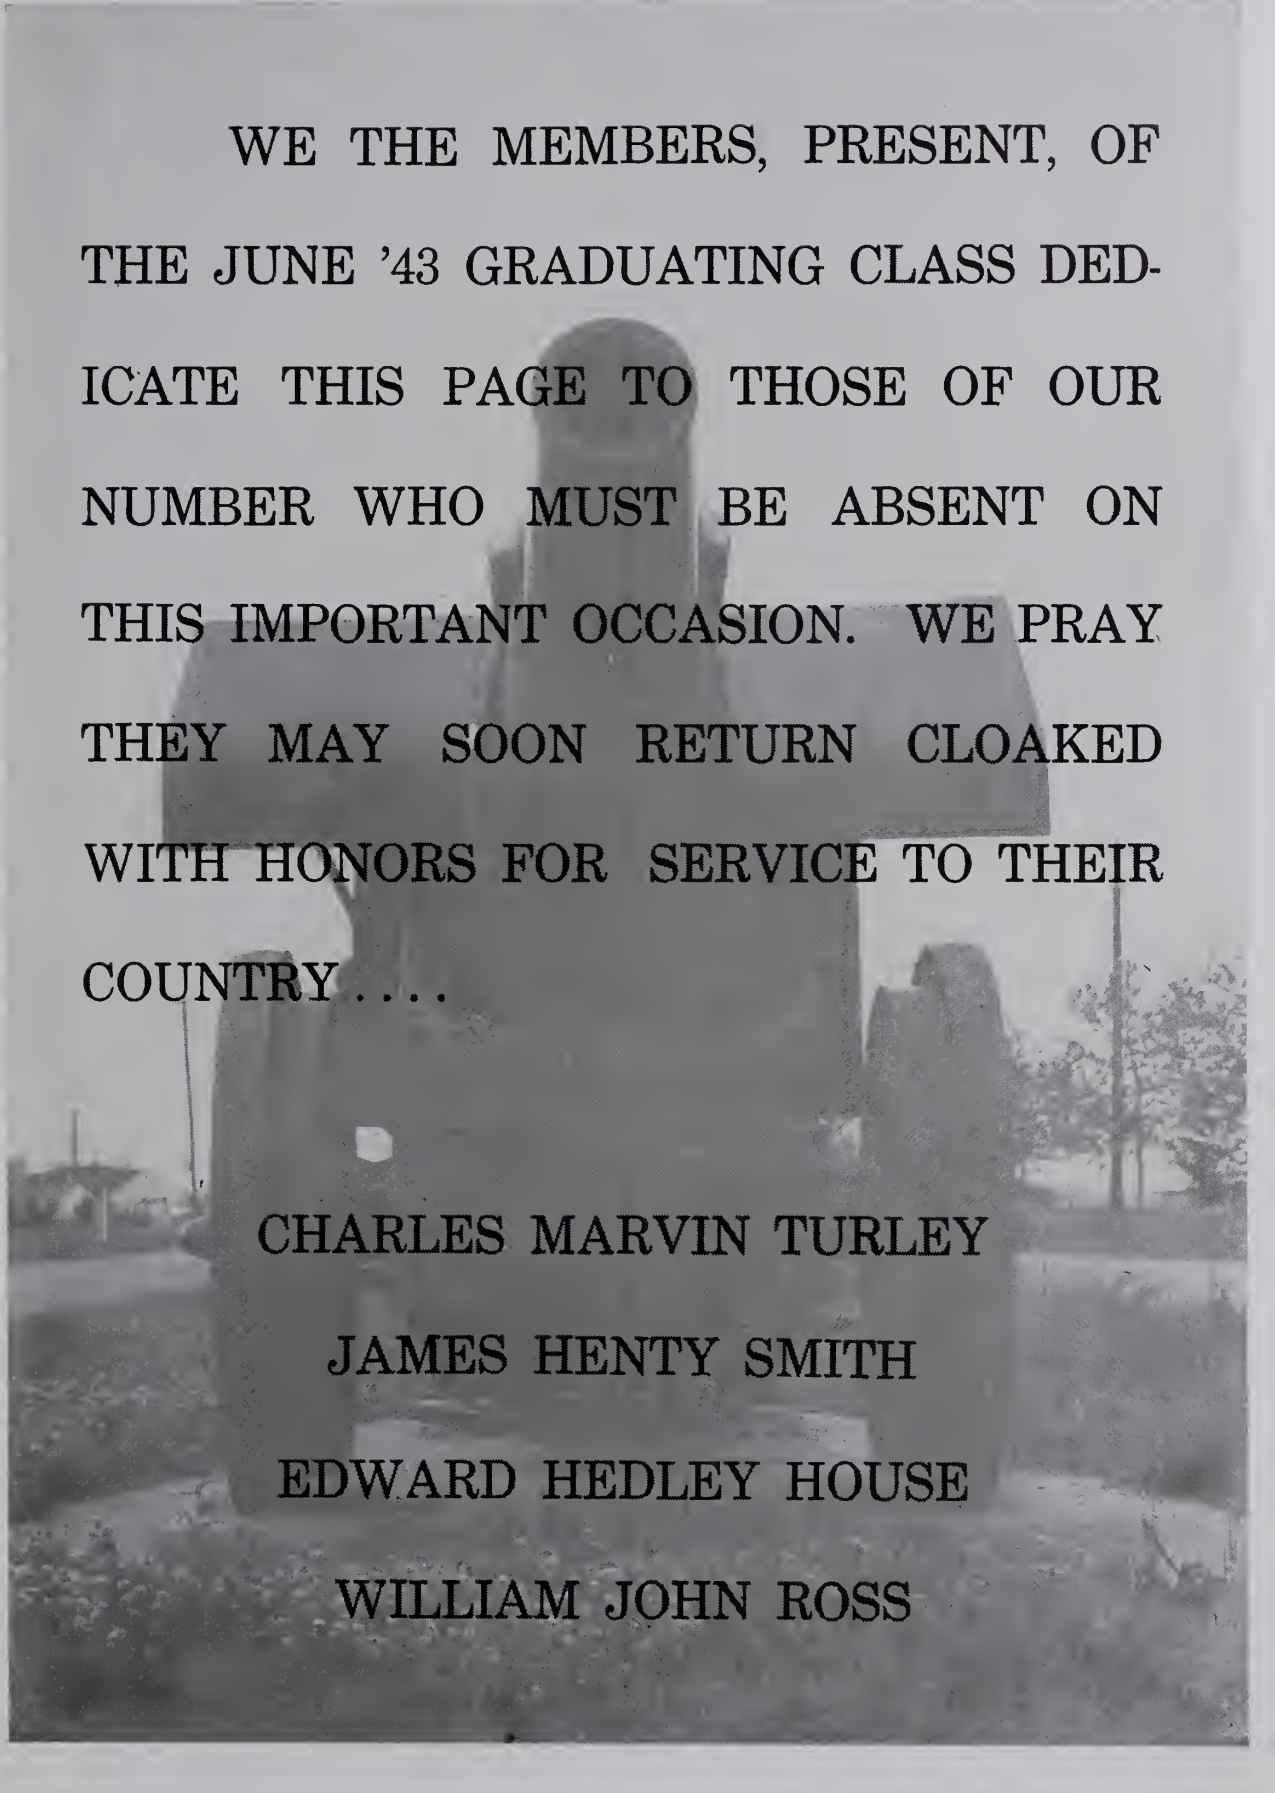

The echa af thase bambs sa treacherausly drapped under a sham af peace has led young Americans fram every walk of life ta abandon their quiet peacetime lives to become members af the armed farces of America.

While the battle af Wake raged, we heard young Americans call far mare Japs even though the odds were high in the enemy's favor. At Bataan and Carregidar we saw athers af them fight ta their last aunce af strength and blaad. Other young Americans, their buddies, tasted revenge in the battles af Mid-way and the Coral sea.

As marines an Guadalcanal their camrades slammed the Japs with all they had and the enemy yielded. Pilating mighty warbirds, their fighting brathers gat in the first crack at Berlin. As Coast Guardsmen other lads blasted Nazis subs, keeping the sea lanes open.

In Africa the young Americans under Gen. Ike Eisenhower dealt the Africa Kaps a mortal blaw and cleared Narth Africa as a spring board far the invasian af Europe.

They have suffered defeats, but knew not when they were beaten. They gat up fram the stab-in-the-back knackdown, and are naw pursuing the enemy wherever they find him. As a result, the service men have inspired us ta take as our theme far the June '43 Anchor THE ARMED FORCES OF AMERICA.

WE THE MEMBERS, PRESENT, OF
THE JUNE '43 GRADUATING CLASS DED-ICATE THIS PAGE TO THOSE OF OUR NUMBER WHO MUST BE ABSENT ON THIS IMPORTANT OCCASION. WE PRAY
THEY MAY SOON RETURN CLOAKED
WITH HONORS FOR SERVICE TO THEIR COUNTRY

DEDICATION

Remembering his remarkable achievements as a chemistry instructor, his friendly personality, his classroom quips and that chuckle, the members of this Anchor Staff dedicate this annual to "Doc" in tribute to his unselfishness in leaving home and family for service to his country.

LT. ANDREW MURPHY, U. S. A. A. F.

SPONSOR'S MESSAGE

Education is the cheap defense of nations Burke

You can indeed count yourself fortunate in that you have received a goodly portion of your education for life at a time when our beloved nation is fighting for its very existence. Children under the conqueror's heel look to the day when they will again have the opportunity to learn the truth . . . to once again become human beings with the rights to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

The youth of other countries know what tyranny means, and they fight it with all their heart and soul. During your short stay here in these hallowed halls, you should have become imbued with a desire to continue your education as far as is humanly possible. Education is the tool by which we can successfully prepare all people of all nations for defense against the seeds of hatred sown by the dictators and their like. It is cheaper in that it saves lives and homes, teaches respect for the things that are decent and deserving of kindness, fights poverty, disease and ignorance, and seeks to lift mankind up to a level where all good things can be duly appreciated.

Nations and peoples rise or fall according to the standard they set themselves. If we sleep and are complacent regarding our liberties, then we will lose them. Young men and women of this graduating class are faced with the superhuman task of fighting upon many fronts in a war for survival among other countries who teach their young students education for death.

Your training for citizenship should fit you to bear the task before you with fortitude, courage and strength. For when this great conflict of ideologies is over, you will be among the many diverse groups who will have to decide how you and your nation will live in the world of the future. You must see to it that free education is continued for all peoples of all nations, for education is a way of life which permits and encourages one to look for the best in the finer things that life has to offer.

A well-educated nation, awake to its strength and its weaknesses, is indeed a nation which will face its great problems without fear. You are members of a freedom loving country. Do your duty in times of adversity or prosperity. Never neglect your chances to learn under any circumstances, for "education is the cheap defense of nations."

CLASS SONG

Dear Newport High, as time draws nigh,
We sing you a last refrain.
We strive for your colors of blue and of gold
Upholding your honor and glory of old.
Although we have gone, you will live on,
As memories not in vain.
And we shall recall how your banners did fly
At our dear Newport High.

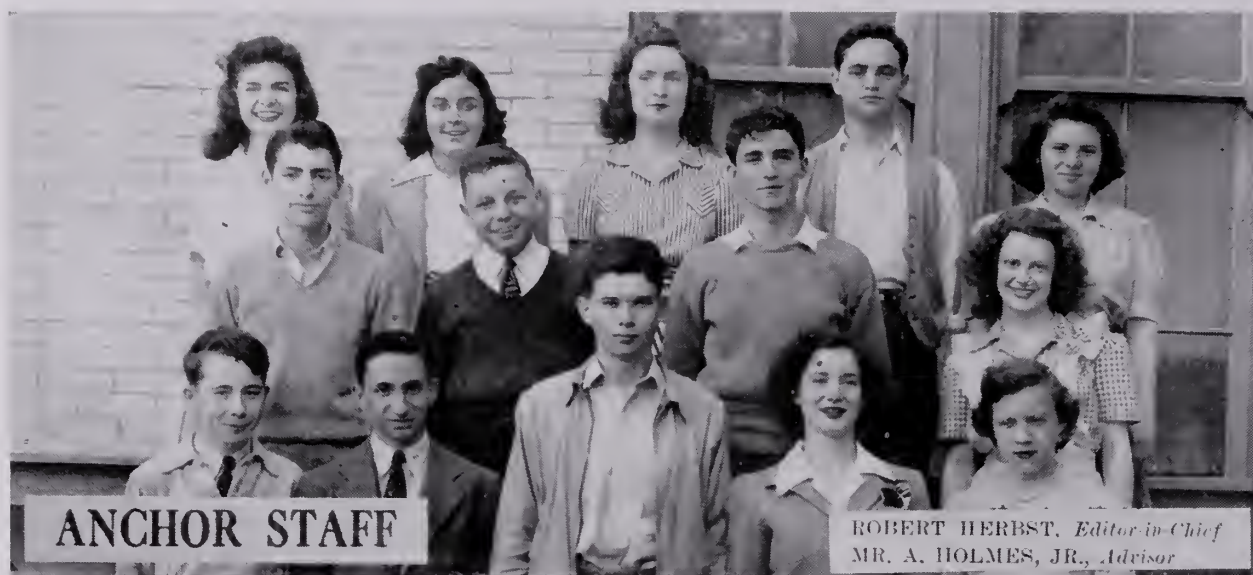

Lyric By BOBBY PARKER

A Trip in 1960 or A Class Prophecy

The year is 1960. The war has long been over with an Allied victory. Hitler, Mussolini, and Tojo have long been "taken care of" and forgotten. Having cashed in our war bonds, your two feature editors have decided to take a sight-seeing trip.

With money in our pocketbooks, we merrily cruise away but first though, before leaving town, we drop by our dear old school and, sure enough, there was our 1943 class sponsor, Mr. Benjamin T. Peele, telling of the moron who found a dead fly in his out-of-order radio and exclaimed: "No wonder the radio won't work, the engineer's dead." The class still laughs half an hour.

We then proceed to the Walter Marshall Service station to get a coke. Standing out in front is William Blokmore, one of our classmates. He has retired from his business establishment in Phoenix and is now coaching the Typhoon eleven. The team has won none, tied none, and lost seven out of seven games, which immediately reminds us of the NNHS team when we were juniors at our Alma Mater.

The next morning bright and early we proceed to Baltimore, and who should we see but Robert "Birdseed" Friedman still greasing up pursuit planes. He's one of the best grease monkeys in the service. After several years of hard work he has worked up to Buck Private. He'll be a pilot yet.

He told us that one of our classmates was working at the Hoppy Hour Night Club so that evening we drop by. Just as the clock strikes twelve, the featured star, Non Wise lurches onto the stage and whips out a few of the latest songs, and boy what a beating they take. The club is owned by Thomas Suttle who is a showman in his own right and owns several other hot spots around town. Later, while getting refreshments, we meet Leoke Wornom who tried to sell us some of his stock. He is president of the company that makes Holdum glue. But he couldn't stick us on a deal like that.

We then make a fast trip up to New York. We have heard that Walter Robinson is an important man on Wall Street so we decided to look him up. We are directed to the most impressive building on the street. We go up to the twentieth floor, and, planning to surprise him, we burst through the door. There, standing in the middle of the most luxurious suite of offices we have ever seen, is Walter Robinson, a bucket in one hand and a mop in the other. Is it possible that he is not the businessman we thought he was?

We decide to walk back to our hotel. Who is this coming down Fifth Avenue in that snappy uniform? Is it Louise Hege? No, it is Barbara Nobles, who is now a nurse at the Bellvue Hospital.

Back at our hotel who should we perceive in the lobby but an admiral, enveloped in a woman's arms. We rush over thinking she is choking him to death. Of all our surprises so far, this is the worse. Lester Brock is the Admiral, and Mrs. Lester Brock (the former Soro Fox of Newport News) is the lady. We congratulate them and bid them farewell.

We hear there is a great opera playing at the Metropolitan, featuring the new singing sensation, Madam Gertrude P. Flipflop. We decided to go, but arrive late and have to stand so far back that we are on the curb across the street.

Suddenly, an eerie wail shatters the expectant quiet that has prevailed in the huge auditorium. Hostily digging into our back pocket, we pull out our half-power opera glasses and train them on the distant stage. Yes, it was true. Madam Flipflop is none other than our old classmate Nancy Hutton. When she reaches the third high J above H, we hurry back to the Waldorf to pack our suitcases.

We decide to put as much distance between us and New York as possible so, twenty minutes later, we catch a rocket plane for California and within an hour find ourselves in Hollywood. We get passes into the White-Cootes-Bennett studios to see the movie stars. Imagine our surprise when we see on the set the world's greatest lover, Billy Goble Boyer, known to our former classmates as Billy Hitchens, who is starring in the great epic film, "For Whom the Bells Did Not Toll." It is taken from the book of the same name by Gwen Ackiss.

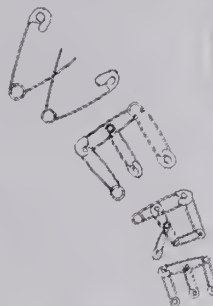

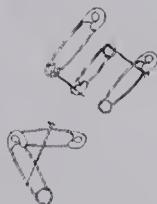

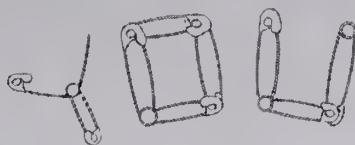

We are running low on War Bond money, so we decide to return home. We have a very slow journey. Edward Alexander is conductor on the west-east train, which, being a streamlined number, was supposed to be unlimited in speed. But judging by the number of towns we pass it is unlimited in how slow it can go.

We call for the porter and who should appear but Robert Anderson. At first, we didn't think it was Robert but when he said, "Youzo, Boss," we knew it was. He explained that his appearance was caused by the sun during a vacation at Miami.

We finally arrive home—just in time to get this article in The Anchor.

PRESENTING OUR MASCOT

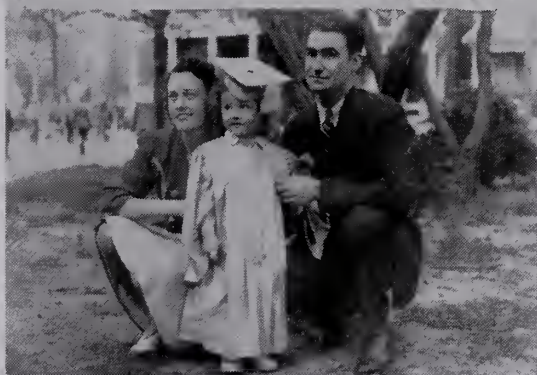

TRUMPETS PLEASE!

We take great pleasure in introducing our mascot, little Alice Joy Peele, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. T. Peele.

TWO-YEAR-OLD ALICE JOY WAS BORN IN RICHMOND ON FEBRUARY 22, 1941. SHE IS A BROWN-EYED BLONDE WITH LOVELY FAIR COMPLEXION.

WE ARE VERY GLAD TO HAVE THIS PRETTY LITTLE GIRL FOR OUR MASCOT. MAY SHE ALWAYS REFLECT THE DISPOSITION OF HER FATHER, WHOM WE HAVE COME TO KNOW AND ADMIRE.

CASABLANCA

Casablanca, located in French MorocCO OVER 2000 miles from the United States, was a fitting place to have the now-famous "Unconditional Surrender" parley, for the name, "Casablanca", which means WHITE HOUSE, is comparable to our own White-house.

Years ago one would have probably found swarthy BROWN natives who would SPIT ALI over the streets; or a slave MART IN the business section; or perhaps a trader selling his WAREs. Today, however, the sTENCH and evil is replaced by the conveyances of a modern city.

Here WISE counselors from EngLAND and America met to plot the course of the war. Such NOBLES and men of position as Prime Minister Churchill, Sir ALLEN Brooke, LORD Louis Mountbatten, Generals ALEXANDER and Montgomery, a great many of which came from BUCKINGHAM palace, represented John BULL, whereas President Roosevelt, Admiral King, Generals Arnold, MARSHALL, and Eisenhower represented Uncle Sam. The immediate objective of this UNION was the dispersal of the leader of the gray-GREEN clad troops under Rommel, the desert FOX.

No shining COAT (E) S of armor nor shining gold BUCKLES and fancy crowns, nor were there such attendants as TAYLORs and butlers for this was a serious affair. This "Unconditional Surrender" is one part of our answer to THE GERMans' boast and threat, "WE GERmans will rule the world." As long as we POOL Entire resources of one country with those of another, we shall have effective action.

After the conference, President Roosevelt went to the FIELDS of battle and inspected the HARDY group of HUSK (E) Y American soldiers stationed there. This fiNE WELL disciplined army of DYEd-in-the-wood fighting men are GOADed by our motto:

SOK'OL Hitler in de mush.

After the final gun has sounded and nations have forgotten PETTY differences, let's hope this world will be a veritable PARADISE in which to live.

Eastern District Champions

Curtailement of transportation caused the elimination of the State Track Meet this year, but the Typhoon thinclads—champions five consecutive years—won the next best, that being the Eastern District championship.

The Typhoon tracksters defeated both Granby and Maury in dual meets 72-45, and tied Maury 31-31 for the Tidewater crown. In the District Meet they nosed out Granby by a lone point, 45-44, to win the championship.
